

THE DOTHAN EAGLE

VOLUME 1.

DOTHAN, ALABAMA, MONDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 6TH, 1909.

NUMBER 800

T. J. WHATLEY RESIGNS

WOMAN IS MISTAKEN FOR AN INTRUDER.

Charleston, S. C., September 5.—Mistaking her for a burglar, William Avant, a prominent planter of Georgetown county, last night shot and instantly killed Mrs. C. C. Bigham, who had accompanied her husband, a physician of Harners, a small town in the same county, on a professional visit to Avant's home, Sunnyside plantation, on Murrell's inlet.

Dr. Bigham and Mr. Avant were sitting on the front porch of Avant's home after supper, when they saw in the darkness a figure pass the house and go to a nearby creek. Not being answered when they called, they got a shotgun and followed.

They saw the figure apparently crouch near the creek bank, and hearing no reply when they called Avant asked Dr. Bigham what he should do. "Shoot it," said Bigham, and Avant fired both barrels at close range.

Running back to the house they secured a light and returned to the bank of the creek, to find Mrs. Bigham stretched dead, the contents of both barrels having entered her back, even the gunwads having penetrated her flesh.

Avant carried the news to Georgetown and accompanied the deputy sheriff and coroner back to Murrell's inlet.

DR. MOODY AND MISS POWERS TO WED.

The following interesting announcement will come as a surprise to some of the Dothan folks. Mr. and Mrs. James Knox Powers announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Pearl Polk, to Dr. Sherod Hayes Moody, of Dothan, Alabama. The wedding will take place at home on Wednesday evening, September the twenty-ninth, 1909.—Florence Times

Miss Powers is pleasantly remembered here, having been a teacher in the Dothan City Schools for some time.

MASON'S OF ALABAMA WILL BUILD A HOME

Montgomery, September 5.—Definite decision was reached Saturday afternoon that the Masonic home, which is to be erected by the Grand Lodge of Masons of this state, would be located in Montgomery. The 236 acres of land, formerly owned by Mrs. Frances C. LaPrade, four miles out of Montgomery, was the site decided upon, and announcement is made by the committee that work on the home will begin at once.

The LaPrade place has long been regarded as one of the most advantageous in this country.

It was sold by Messrs. J. C. Hardaway & Co., for a consideration not given out. It is known, however, that the Montgomery Masonic lodges have guaranteed $10,000 to aid in erecting the building.

Mrs. Annie Lou McGuire and little daughter returned yesterday from Eaton, Fla., where they have been visiting the family of R. T. Hughes.

Rev. C. B. Searey of Abbeville was in the city today.

SCHOOL OPENED TODAY

ENROLLMENT IS FAR LARGER THAN WAS EXPECTED IN BOTH SCHOOLS.

In the presence of a large number of school patrons and friends, the opening exercises of the City Schools were held in the Grammar School Auditorium this morning. The exercises were begun by the singing of America by the students and audience.

The devotional services consisted of Bible reading by Rev. W. M. Anderson and prayer by Rev. W. S. Poyner. Inspiring talks were made by Revs. Bell, Jim C. James, Folmar, W. M. Anderson, W. S. Poyner, Supt. Brown and members of the faculty.

The enrollment was far in excess of what had been anticipated. From present indications the attendance will exceed that of any previous year. In the High School the enrollment this morning day. The need for a High enrollment by 25 that the High School has ever had on the opening day. The need for a High School building was never so pressing than now. A pleasing feature of the opening was the art and china exhibit of Miss Strother and her corps of assistants.

DEATH STALKS IN TINY FEET.

Probably the most valuable discovery made during this generation is the fact that certain contagious diseases are spread mostly by the mosquito and the house fly. Within a decade yellow fever has been robbed largely of its terrors by the mosquito bar.

Now the work has begun to lessen other plagues by suppressing the pestiferous house fly. This hateful pest can walk on the ceiling of your room regardless of the attraction of gravity, because there are tiny cups in his little feet which lay hold by suction. When he walks on纤 he picks up bacteria, and then flying away deposits it on your food.

A correspondent of the Atlanta Constitution writes thus interestingly of some observations made in our sister city, and makes some suggestions which are worthy of attention everywhere.

Here follows the remarkable communication of John F. Jacobson, in The Constitution, in which he describes the swarming flies hovering over the exposed meats for sale in the Atlanta markets.

This matter is worthy of the notice of health authorities wherever the house fly is known, and where is he not known?—From Mason Telegraph Ask Dr. Cook

George Soster, that airy gentleman, who originally hails from Greece, and who was formerly a citizen of Dothan, came in town from an extensive trip around the world. One little urchin, so great did Mr. Soster appear in his eyes, inquired if he was with Dr. Fred Cook when he discovered the North Pole.

Miss Jessie Cole and her mother returned today, after a visit of a week to Ashford.

WOUND PROVES FATAL

MRS. STEVENSON JOINS HER DAUGHTER. DANGEROUS WOUND UNKNOWN.

Louverne, Sept. 6.—With the death of Mrs. Emma Stevenson at her home near Grady this morning her divorced husband William Stevenson, who is in the Creek County jail here, becomes a double murderer.

Stevenson, it will be remembered, went to the home of her former wife, three miles from Grady, Friday morning, shot and killed Miss Gertrude Vann, his step-daughter, then turned the shotgun on Mrs. Stevenson, who it was thought was only wounded in the arm.

After the death of Mrs. Stevenson, which occurred at 6:26 o'clock this morning, it was discovered that she had been shot in the breast and stomach.

Soon after the shooting of Mrs. Stevenson and the death of her daughter Friday morning J. R. McLendon, of Naftel, father of Mrs. Stevenson, and J. C. McLendon, of Luverne, her brother, went to the Stevenson home near Grady where the tragedy occurred. Miss Vann was buried Saturday afternoon at Fairview Cemetery and the remains of her mother were laid by her side this afternoon.

Grover Vann, son of Mrs. Stevenson, will go to Naftel to reside with his grandfather, Mr. McLendon. His only surviving sister, Miss Myrtle Vann, will make her home with relatives in Montgomery.

Stevenson, who was captured near Troy soon after the terrible crime, is in jail at Luverne. He has not been told that his wife succumbed to the wounds.

While there is much indignation here at the crime of Stevenson violence against the murderer is not expected.

J. C. McLendon returned to his home in Luverne tonight after being at the bedside and funeral of his sister. Many of his friends visited him to learn the news of his sister's death. He expressed the hope that his Luverne friends would not harm Stevenson, saying that he confidently expected the law would mete out justice to the slayer of his sister and niece.

NEGRO IS SHOT DEAD FOR RESISTING ARREST

Shellman, Ga., September 5.—Will Anthony, residing near here, was shot and killed by Bailiff A. L. George, while resisting arrest this morning. Mr. George had a warrant for the negro for some trivial offense committed in Terrell and when called on and told to consider himself under arrest the negro told him he would not be arrested and made a move as if to draw a weapon, but was shot down before he could do so.

Miss Willie Morris who has been the guest of Miss Florrie Malone for the past few days, has returned to her home in Samson.

Tuesday night will be the regular monthly muster of Company F. Everyone is requested to be present. C. J. MORRIS, Commander.

BREAKING THE BONDAGE OF LEGAL TECHNICALITY

Upon more than one occasion the American Bar Association, composed of the most eminent lawyers and students of jurisprudence in the country, has gone on record as opposed to the justice-slaving and time-killing technicality.

The current session held at Detroit is no exception. Two years ago the association appointed a committee to consider the matter of unnecessary costs and delay in litigation.

The committee now returns a report recommending sweeping but gradual changes in the judicial machinery of the nation—municipal, state and federal.

One of the most important provisions, to quote Associated Press reports, is "to limit the setting aside of verdicts on error unless the error complained of shall appear to have resulted in a miscarriage of justice."

No more precise phraseology could be found to define the demand for judicial reform that has now grown as wide as the nation.

In every notable ruling by technicality during recent months, from the notorious night-riders' reversals in Tennessee to the weird acts of Judge Gantt in Missouri, verdicts have been overturned, not because of "error that would have resulted in a miscarriage of justice," but because of "error that was essentially mechanical and not within imagining distance of the evidence."

The American Bar Association, as well as the respective state bar associations, can be instrumental in effecting a benevolent revolution of our judicial procedure if they will keep collectively hammering at the task.

And yet, continual memorials and presidential recommendations to congress to take active measures with regard to federal laws will be more or less ineffectual, viewing the results from an ultimate standpoint, unless supplemented by similar activity on part of the states.

In these latter the farce of government-by-technicality is perpetuated by weak brethren in the legislatures, small lawyers whose professional interests lie in keeping the statutes bound in an intricate maze of conflicting red tape.

When the people bring continuous and determined pressure to bear in this direction, they will encounter little difficulty in securing the reforms so drastically needed.—Constitution

LAYFIELD TO LEAVE

RESIGNS PRESIDENCY OF BUSINESS COLLEGE AND FROM COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Prof. E. L. Layfield has resigned as president of the Dothan Business College, which institution he founded three years ago, and also as secretary of the Commercial Club, which position he has held with credit for some time.

Prof. Layfield has a nice position awaiting him in Richmond, in the Massey Business College, and left this afternoon. He will visit Columbus, Montgomery and Birmingham before going to Richmond, and will take up his work there next week.

Miss Susie Layfield, his sister, will remain with the school here, as teacher of the short hand department, and Prof. W. L. Morse, of the Massey College, Birmingham, will take Prof. Layfield's place as principal, and the school here will be conducted along the same lines followed since its establishment.

During Prof. Layfield's stay in Dothan he has made many friends. He has been an active church worker, and has always taken an interest in the city's welfare along commercial lines. His friends regret to see him leave Dothan.

represented by similar activity on part of the states.

THE FIGHT IS ON.

The editor of this paper has been eluded by some, for not firing a gun that would be heard from one end of the state to the other on this constitutional amendment proposition.

We knew it was loaded.

We dreaded to monkey with it.

We dread the tumult and strife ahead of us.

To those who knew us best our extreme silence has not meant a doubtful engum.

We are going to do all that we can, in a decent way, to make the amendment carry. First, because we believe the majority of the voters in Alabama want prohibition. And second, since they want it, we shouldn't object to its going in the constitution. We can see no harm in its being placed there, along with some other good things.

But we dreaded to see our friends line up, some on one side and some the other, and start a campaign that will rankle in gall before it's over.

The campaign is on. It is well under way. We have had two Sundays of it, over at the First Baptist church.

Mr. Farmer, from some cause saw fit to resign as deacon of the church and superintendent of the Sunday school. He left no choice but to accept it, and stressed the point, that his actions were thoughtful, and that he was serious in the matter.

Tom Whatley, deacon, and assistant superintendent, was out of town on that day, and possibly didn't know till yesterday that the McCord boys had been using his name as one prominent in church affairs, a deacon, and assistant superintendent, and as one who was opposed to the constitutional amendment. It was known that Mr. Whatley opposed the amendment, but he was hardly aware of the fact that his name, and his official connection with the church was being used as a hummer.

So when the committee read a resolution of appreciation for the long service of Mr. Farmer, Mr. Malone arose and read an amendment which he offered. The amendment was, in effect, that inasmuch as Mr. Farmer had seen fit to resign his official connections with the church, owing to the active campaign he expected to make opposing the amendment, his actions in resigning were to be commended, and that "all other officers" who expected to take the same active stand should also resign their official positions. This is not the wording, but the substance, we believe.

This brought Mr. Farmer to his feet to deny the statement in "the paper" that he had resigned for the reason quoted. He said that this was not his reason. He asked that the amendment be withdrawn, which was done.

When Mr. Malone presented the amendment, we believe that it was with the idea that Mr. Whatley was allowing the use of his name and its official connections with the church, for the effect it would have on the campaign. We don't think Mr. Whatley knew until that time, that any such use had been made of his name.

We don't think the motion would have ever been put if all concerned had thoroughly understood the situation.

Mr. Farmer has told us that what he expected to do in the amendment campaign had nothing to do with his resigning. We ought to take his word for it.

In referring to Mr. Farmer's resignation last Monday, this paper never made a statement purporting to be the reason given by him for his resigning. It did say that his friends thought his actions were caused by the stand he expects to take in the constitutional amendment campaign.

Ninety-five per cent of the people who had given the matter any thought, and who were present, believed this to be his reason, up to the time he denied it yesterday.

We are glad to know that this was not Mr. Farmer's reason for resigning. It would have been asking the church to excuse him long enough to go off and do a thing he acknowledged wasn't in accord with the church. It would have been the same as going over the corporate limits of the city to take a drink, just because it was against the city laws to take it publicly on the streets.

All of this goes to show what's ahead.

The line up has got to be made.

If the amendment fails, the armor will be girded on and the next legislature will be asked to give us liquor, and the one following will be asked to give us more liquor, and on, and on. If the amendment carries, it will mean that the state is still prohibition and will remain that way.

So, from the outset, it is prohibition and whiskey. Not that all who oppose the amendment are for liquor, but so near all till they won't count, who are not. It might be best to put it this way. Every man who is opposed to prohibition will oppose the amendment. This will work in every instance.

That crowd which tells you that it is a serious thing to be messing up your constitution with laws like this, and oppose it for that reason, apparently, is the political end of the fight. They know that if prohibition is a good law, that there is no place too good for the law.

The chaplain for one of the state's prisons the other day took a stray vote. He was preaching to a congregation that seemed chained to their seats, and lest they might steal away, guards were at the door to keep the convicts in their places, and on their behavior during the service. During the sermon, the chaplain told all those to rise who knew that liquor had contributed to their downfall, had eat some figure in the crime they committed. Out of the 300 convicts, 19 failed to get up. The others thought that they wouldn't be serving time if they had had no access to whiskey. Those convicts, if they could vote, would likely have no compunction of conscience by placing the amendment in the constitution, as sacred a thing as it is. They, no doubt, feel that if it is good to have on the statute books, that it is a good law to put in the basic laws of our state.

If Dr. Cook is game, he will not stop long, just long enough to make a few hundred thousand dollars lecturing on the platform, then he will rush for the south pole and have the long search ended. He deserves a medal, just for settling the matter. That is, it is settled as far as we are concerned.

The windjammers will start us a breeze in this county right away.

Each week, from now on, the Abbeville News will contain an item about some good farmer living right on the edge of Headland, carrying his cotton to Abbeville, because he could get a better price for it. The Headland papers will use two or three striking instances, where farmers came right out of the corporate limits, and some above Abbeville, mostly to sell cotton for a higher price in Headland. We all love to see town pride and we love to see those fellows come here to buy what they want and sell them cotton for the top of the market too.

The man who edits the average country newspaper cannot well avoid treading on somebody's toes continually, so's the Greenprings (O.) Echo. He must expect to be censured often for unintentional failures, must expect hard work and little thanks, must expect to be called a coward because he does not "pitch onto" everything that somebody else thinks is wrong, and a fool if he speaks out too plainly on public evils. He must expect to find other people's axes and turn the grind stone himself.

If Commander Peary happens to stumble up on the pole, and finds that the claim has been staked out, it should make his trip none the less effective. He has been devoting much time to the lost pole for the last dozen or fifteen years.

And when he had found the pole, behold! it was no pole.

On to the south pole!

PROHIBITION IN ALABAMA.

In her efforts to obtain prohibition that will prohibit, the state of Alabama persistently and valiantly sustains the position which she alphabetically occupies at the head of the list of states. Of course there may be a few sore spots, as Mobile and Birmingham, but Alabama never says die; she has banished all the lexicous containing that word. For instance, there is a member of her legislature named Fuller. We admit that this is an unusual name for a prohibitionist to have. However, we do not assert dogmatically that a prohibitionist might not, under certain circumstances become fuller than an anti-prohibitionist; we do not intimate that he would, but merely that he might. We know that full means full, and more full means fuller; it is true that it is merely comparative;—but even admitting that it is comparative is admitting something, in a prohibition campaign. Mr. Fuller has introduced a prohibition bill containing 6,000 words. Now we doubt whether this bill could be fuller, although it is Fuller's bill;—that is to say, it is comparatively full, and we do not argue that point, because we believe that it will be admitted by all reasoning men. It might be added that it is full, at least, beyond a reasonable doubt, which means that it is full beyond a doubt that would ordinarily be entertained by a reasonable and prudent man acting in the graver transactions of life. Merely full bills introduced by full representatives may have failed to prohibit, but it seems to us that a fuller bill (6,000 words), introduced by a Fuller representative, ought, in the nature of things, prohibit more fully.—The Issue.

GREAT TEMPLES OF ICE.

From the Chicago Tribune.
Changeless Arctic temples of ice amid the icy deserts of Greenland were found by the survivors of the ill-fated Erickson expedition to the North Pole. A crystal palace of superhuman architecture vaster than a dozen cathedrals and Egyptian temples, resplendent with jewels and endless decorations of ice is described.

Created by nature in a forbidding wilderness, it frightened and awed the explorers. The dreams of poets and fancies of epic bards were surpassed by this vision of colossal loveliness, which the painter Achton Fries, a member of the expedition, endeavored to carry away for the benefit of the dwellers in civilization.

More than a mile in length, the lofty nave of this temple was pierced at intervals with windows through which the gleaming sun's rays sparkled on columns and actites like pendant jewels. Through the center of the ice palace flowed a stream of water whose occasional ripple and splashing fall broke the majestic silence.

Far north it is possible that ice palaces and temples should endure without change longer than human structures of stone. The carcasses of prehistoric monsters have remained inviolate in Arctic tombs for thousands of years, while granite pyramids have worn away and Babylonian civilization has been buried deep in the earth.

NOTICE OF ATTACHMENT

State of Alabama, Houston County, Before M. Cody, Justice of the Peace—O. L. Wyatt vs. O. L. Thompson:

Whereas, O. L. Wyatt, as plaintiff in the above stated cause, has obtained an attachment, issued by me, M. Cody, a Justice of the Peace for said state and county, on the 25th day of August, 1909, on returnable before me on the 20th day of September, 1909, at Dothan, in said county, against the Estate of said O. L. Thompson, defendant, for the recovery of the sum of Twenty-five dollars therein; and whereas, said attachment has been executed by T. W. Butler, Sheriff for said County, by levying on the following as the property of the said O. L. Thompson: One trunk and contents.

And, whereas, it appears that said O. L. Thompson is a non-resident of the State of Alabama and resides in the State of Florida. Now, therefore, the said O. L. Thompson is hereby notified of said attachment, and the levy thereon, as aforesaid.

Witness my hand this 31st day of August, 1909.

BOATS FOR SALE.

Owing to my misfortune in getting my mill burnt, with but little insurance, and needing money to help me to rebuild, I will sell my Launch and Houseboat at Panama City at a sacrifice price. There is nothing near of the kind anywhere and you should see them if you contemplate an outing of this kind. W. C. Pitcher

The question is
HAVE YOU A PIANO?

Do you want one? If so, what style and make?

You will admit at once the usefulness of an instrument in your home, then why not let us sell you an instrument on our easy terms? Any one can have a piano that way, and will have something to show for their money.

We only have the agency for fifteen different makes of pianos and eighty-three styles combined in the fifteen different makes. We guarantee to sell you an instrument as cheap as any house in America. All instruments backed by guarantee.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE between the "bargain counter" shears and scissors and a high grade article. The former may be cheap in price because of poor material and convict labor, but are never satisfactory in the "long run."

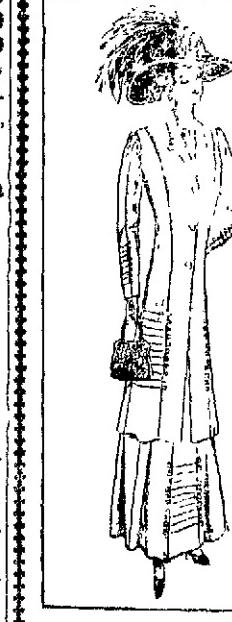

The latter is made from selected steel, properly tempered, forged and finished and every part inspected before it leaves the factory. Costs a little more to begin with, but is always a source of satisfaction to the user.

Clauss' make of shears and scissors are always reliable.
